

MOTHER'S DAY

In 1914, President Woodrow Wilson designated the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day. This year we celebrate moms everywhere on May 10th. We all have that person we go to for advice, comfort, nurturing and understanding, who helped us become who we are today. Whether this person is your mother, stepmother, grandmother, aunt or foster mom, join us as we say, "Thank You Mom!" We appreciate, love and admire you for all that you have done for us!

Additional Home Coverage Options:

Without a doubt, a standard homeowners policy includes a lot of coverage. But did you know that there are some optional coverages that can be added to many policies? These added coverages can protect you from unexpected expenses arising from damages and repairs in your home.

Equipment Breakdown Coverage can add protection for your home appliances, HVAC systems, home entertainment and other high-tech items. This added coverage is a great way to protect against mechanical, electrical and pressure failure. For example, with equipment breakdown coverage, you could be covered if your air conditioner compressor burns out due to an electrical short. The cost of the replacement would be covered, less your deductible.

Service Line Coverage is another option that can be added to many policies. A standard home policy doesn't normally cover underground service lines like water, sewer and gas lines. Adding this coverage can protect you from most costs resulting from leaks, tears, breaks, rupture, collapse and electrical arcing. These problems can be caused by wear and tear, roots, frozen ground or heaving, rust or corrosion and mechanical breakdown. For example, if your underground power line is arcing and you lose power, the line will likely need to be dug up and replaced. With the added Service Line Coverage, you would only be responsible for your deductible. Both of these optional coverages can give you added protection and peace of mind. If you are interested in adding these to your home policy, please contact us!

According to FEMA, more than 20 percent of flood claims come from properties located outside of high-risk flood zones.

Last spring, warm weather, rains and record snowmelt caused water problems for many homeowners. We never want to have to tell you that your water damage is not a covered loss. However, a standard home policy will exclude coverage for flood/surface water and the damage that it causes. To protect yourself, you may want to consider Flood Insurance. A flood policy can cover many of the damages that flood or surface water may cause in your home. It's important to call us soon if you are interested in flood coverage as policies must be in force for 30 days before it will cover a loss. Water and sewer back up coverage is another great way to protect your home. Spring rain and snowmelt can back up into your home through your sump pit and floor drain if your pump malfunctions or can't keep up. This coverage can be added to most policies and gives you that extra peace of mind. We will be happy to give you a quote with the best coverage options for your situation.
